We have a full schedule of events slated for this year's meeting such as Invited Symposia, Symposia, Poster Sessions and a Keynote Speaker, as well as our George A. Miller Award winner, The Fred Kavli Distinguished Career Contributions Award winner and the Young Investigators Award winners. The popular sessions like the DataBlitz and Trainee sessions will return. New options will include new special sessions, interactive Q&A and hybrid-style Poster & Exhibit Halls.

The CNS Annual Meeting offers unique and exciting sponsorship opportunities. We expect our hybrid style meeting to have more attendees than our traditional in-person or virtual meetings. Comments from Past Attendees

CNS 2021 was the best virtual conference I have attended so far. Congratulations!
Please keep up the great work for our scientific community.

Overall, this year's meeting surpassed my expectations. I really liked the platform,
I think it is a very good alternative!

It was great. I am so glad we have done this step in our field. Thanks so much for all the effort you put in. CNS was the first meeting in our field going virtual and you guys were the first ones implementing it. Congrats and big Thanks!!

I was able to see every talk/poster I was interested in. This would not have been possible if in person.
The On-Demand videos were excellent additions for people from different time zones.

I'm a first-year grad student in cognitive neuroscience and this seemed like the perfect conference for my interests.

The CNS Conference website is probably the best conference website I know.
